

We have cried—and the gods are silent;
We have trusted—and been betrayed;
We have loved—and the fruit was ashes;
We have given—the gift was weighed.

We know that the heavens are empty.

-Voltairine de Cleyre