

GIVE 'EM SUMMIT TO THINK ABOUT!

IF DAVID CAMERON has his way, the G8 summit next June will be a triumph for PR spin. Posing next to Obama and the other world leaders in Fermanagh, his slick smile even smugger than usual, he will milk the praise of the adoring global audience as he announces that the meeting has successfully worked out how to feed the world, make poverty history or whatever other line they've dreamed up...

But, of course, it'll all be a load of fibs. The real G8 agenda is about protecting the interests of big business and plotting ways to further carve up the world between corporate bosses and bankers.

For instance, when the final declaration from the 2012 summit says the G8 are committed to "growth", we know they really mean "profit". When they talk about "reforms to raise productivity", they mean ways to screw the workforce and when they stress the need to "protect investments", they are describing their core mission of making sure nothing, and nobody, can ever come between the global fat cats and the supersize bowl of financial cream they intend to gobble up entirely on their own.

But we won't just sit back and watch Cameron and his like pull the wool over people's eyes while pulling the rug from under their feet with their ruthless 'austerity' agenda. A network of like-minded people has made an international call-out for a Week of Action in London, the belly of the capitalist beast, between June 10 and June 14, including convergence space and a big protest on Tuesday June 11, following local actions around Mayday, so get yourself on our email list - we need your help in sending Cameron and his capitalist chums a message they won't forget! We are many, they are few, we are everywhere!

LET'S SPOIL HIS MOMENT!
